Quarterly fund commentary

Government and corporate bonds delivered positive returns during the period, despite a late sell-off in global bond markets leading bond yields higher. A number of political and central bank announcements during the quarter raised market uncertainty and the level of volatility in the market. The US Senate approved Trump's proposed tax reforms, while global central bank rhetoric continued with its hawkish tone. In Europe, the European Central Bank president Mario Draghi announced it will wind down its €2tn quantitative easing programme from January, halving the amount of asset purchases from €60bn to €30bn. Overall, global economic data continues to suggest synchronised global growth for the first time since the credit crisis. Looking ahead, we expect Europe and US growth to continue to come in strong. Chinese headwinds are less of a concern as the economy has absorbed restricted monetary policy rather well. Given the backdrop of strong global growth, stable inflation and restrictive monetary policy we prefer corporate bonds over government bonds. Fundamentals are supportive of emerging markets whilst we remain neutral on currency positioning. We continue to believe that central bank policy error is the biggest risk to bond markets globally.

Risk Warnings

The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Debt instruments are exposed to credit risk which is the ability of the borrower to repay the interest and capital on the redemption date. Changes in interest rates will result in fluctuations in the value of the fund. The fund will invest in derivatives (complex instruments) which will result in the fund being leveraged and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund. The fund may hold a large amount of Asset Backed Securities (ABS) (complex instruments) as well as lower quality debt securities which may impact the liquidity of the fund under certain circumstances. The fund may invest in distressed securities which carry a significant risk of capital loss. The fund may invest in contingent convertible bonds which may result in significant risk of capital loss based on certain trigger events. The fund will hold a large amount of debt instruments which are of lower credit quality and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund.

This information is available using the contact details of the issuer and is without charge. Further information on our products is available using the contact details shown. The yields shown are expressed as a % per annum of the current NAV of the fund. They are an estimate for the next 12 months, assuming that the fund's portfolio remains unchanged and there are no defaults or deferrals of coupon payments or capital repayments. Cash income is estimated coupons from bonds. The gross current yield is an indication of the expected cash income over the next 12 months. The estimated gross redemption yield is a longer-term picture indicating expected annual total return. This means that in addition to expected cash income, it includes the amortised annual value of unrealised capital gains or losses of bond holdings currently held by the fund, calculated with reference to their current market price and expected redemption value made upon maturity of the bonds. Neither of the yields is guaranteed. Nor do they reflect the fund charges or the entry charge of the fund. Investors may be subject to tax on distributions. The yield is not guaranteed and may go down as well as up. Subscriptions of shares are only accepted on the basis of the most up to date legal offering documents.
