Quarterly fund commentary

Credit assets were strong during the first quarter with positive index results across global high yield, bank loans, investment grade credit, and emerging market debt. Global growth remains strong, with the US, Europe and China all showing strength since the second half of last year. Strong growth is generally positive for credit assets, as fundamentals in these sectors are tied to economic output. During the first quarter, the portfolio managers maintained the allocation to investment grade credit, and emerging market debt and, slightly reduced the high yield and bank loan allocations. The emerging market debt sector had strong first quarter performance tied to global growth positive estimates. The high yield market took a slight pause in March but despite this was one of the best performing credit asset classes for the quarter. We are closely watching policy makers as one potential negative to the global economy is if central banks reverse momentum. In addition, we are monitoring US dollar strength, political risks - namely the European election cycle, and evidence of capital outflows in China. Across credit markets, the portfolio managers continue to focus on solid issuer fundamentals, and continue to look for what they consider as attractive bonds on an opportunistic basis.

Risk Warnings

The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Debt instruments are exposed to credit risk which is the ability of the borrower to repay the interest and capital on the redemption date. Changes in interest rates will result in fluctuations in the value of the fund. The fund will invest in derivatives (complex instruments) which will result in the fund being leveraged and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund. The fund's performance may be adversely affected by variations in the exchange rates between the base currency of the fund and the currencies in which the investments are made. As a large portion of the fund is invested in less developed countries, you should be prepared to accept significantly large fluctuations of the value of the fund. The fund may hold a large amount of debt instruments which are of lower credit quality and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund. The risks described herein are the fund specific material risks. For more information please consult the current fund and share class specific Key Investor Information Document (KIID) and for a complete set of risks the current prospectus.

The forecasts and market outlook presented in this material reflect subjective judgments and assumptions of the investment manager or its delegate and unexpected events may occur. There can be no assurance that developments will transpire as forecasted in this presentation. Where securities are mentioned in this document they do not necessarily represent a specific portfolio holding and do not constitute a recommendation to purchase, hold or sell. The ongoing charges figure is based on annualised expenses for the period ending 31/08/2016. This figure may vary from year to year. It excludes portfolio transaction costs except in the case of an entry or exit charge paid by the Fund when buying or selling shares/units in another fund. The fund yields shown are expressed as a % per annum of the current NAV of the fund. They are an estimate for the next 12 months, assuming that the fund's portfolio remains unchanged and there are no defaults or deferrals of coupon payments or capital repayments. Cash income is estimated coupons from bonds. The gross current yield is an indication of the expected cash income over the next 12 months. The gross redemption yield is a longer-term picture indicating expected annual total return. This means that in addition to expected cash income, it includes the amortised annual value of unrealised capital gains or losses of bond holdings currently held by the fund, calculated with reference to their current market price and expected redemption value made upon maturity of the bonds. Neither of the yields is guaranteed. Nor do they reflect the impact of the ongoing charges, the portfolio transaction costs or the entry charge of the fund. Investors may be subject to tax on distributions. Subscriptions of shares are only accepted on the basis of the most up to date legal offering documents. The legal offering documents (fund & share class specific Key Investor Information Document, prospectus, annual and semi-annual reports, articles and trustee deed) are available free of charge with your local Invesco representative or on our website www.invescoeurope.com.
