Quarterly fund commentary

Asia Pacific ex Japan equities continued to rally in Q4, outperforming Asian US dollar bonds which rose by a lesser extent. Positive total returns were achieved across equity markets, given the positive outlook for earnings and favourable macroeconomic conditions. India was the best-performing market over the quarter, as confidence in the long-term benefits of the government's reforms, such as the goods and services tax (GST) roll-out, lifted market sentiment. South Korea was another standout performer as investor sentiment recovered as geopolitical tensions with China eased. China and Hong Kong equities continued to rise, supported by positive earnings upgrades. In terms of regional sector performance, the healthcare and consumer staples sectors led market gains given their solid growth outlook. In Q4, the Asian USD bond market has been affected by a rising interest rate environment as the US Fed hiked interest rate in December by another 25bps. In terms of investment strategy, we maintained a tilt towards Asian equities. Our largest equity exposure continued to be the Greater China region as we find many investment opportunities in companies that enjoy robust business models and sustainable free cash flow. In fixed income, the majority of our bond holdings were in US dollar-denominated bonds.

Risk Warnings

The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Debt instruments are exposed to credit risk which is the ability of the borrower to repay the interest and capital on the redemption date. As a large portion of the fund is invested in less developed countries, you should be prepared to accept significantly large fluctuations of the value of the fund. The fund may invest in contingent convertible bonds which may result in significant risk of capital loss based on certain trigger events. The fund may hold a large amount of debt instruments which are of lower credit quality and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund.
