Quarterly fund commentary

Asia Pacific ex Japan equity markets continued to rally in Q3, outperforming Asian US dollar bonds which rose by a lesser extent. Most of the region's equity markets delivered positive returns given the favourable macroeconomic backdrop and positive outlook for corporate earnings. China was the best-performing market, as confidence in corporate earnings continued to lift sentiment. Macroeconomic data in China also remained robust, with positive manufacturing surveys and solid industrial profits. Hong Kong's equity market also benefitted from positive sentiment towards Chinese equities, while ASEAN equity markets were mixed. In terms of sector performance, the IT sector led the market higher given solid earnings growth. Asian USD bond markets were supported over the quarter by still robust company fundamentals. In terms of investment strategy, we maintained a tilt towards Asian equities. Our largest equity exposure continued to be in the Greater China region, where we are able to find more investment opportunities in companies with what we consider to be robust business models and sustainable free cash flow. In fixed income, the majority of our bond holdings were in US dollar-denominated bonds.

Risk Warnings

The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Debt instruments are exposed to credit risk which is the ability of the borrower to repay the interest and capital on the redemption date. As a large portion of the fund is invested in less developed countries, you should be prepared to accept significantly large fluctuations of the value of the fund. The fund may invest in contingent convertible bonds which may result in significant risk of capital loss based on certain trigger events. The fund may hold a large amount of debt instruments which are of lower credit quality and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund. The risks described herein are the fund specific material risks. For more information please consult the current fund and share class specific Key Investor Information Document (KIID) and for a complete set of risks the current prospectus.
