Quarterly fund commentary

Asia ex Japan equities continued to rally in Q3 given the positive outlook for earnings and favourable macroeconomic conditions. Regional manufacturing surveys for the quarter showed a good positive trend which boded well for broader consumption. Retail sales data across the region was also robust. Of the consumer related sectors that drove market performance, the internet services industry benefited from further upgrades to earnings expectations. In particular, Chinese internet leaders performed well thanks to pioneering efforts in the integration of artificial intelligence, big data and cloud solutions. In consumer discretionary sector, Chinese automobile companies made strong gains on robust vehicle sales data. Looking ahead, we continue to believe that consumer demand is a secular trend driving growth in Asia. We favour companies that are able to profit from the changing consumer dynamics in the region. This has led to meaningful exposure in the consumer discretionary, staples and internet services sectors. We are particularly optimistic on China and India's consumption story, as these two markets continue to be underpinned by favourable demographics such as rising middle-class and robust income growth.
