Quarterly fund commentary

China equity markets ended the quarter lower as trade tariffs risk continued between the US and China, economic activity disappointed and the currency weakened against the US dollar. India, China and Hong Kong were the better performing markets within Asia, while Thailand, Indonesia, Korea and Taiwan lagged. On a sector basis, consumer staples and utilities were the best performing sectors given their defensive nature, while the consumer discretionary and industrials sectors, such as construction and transportation, lagged. Looking ahead, we believe consumer demand will continue to be a strong trend driving growth in Asia. We favour companies that are able to profit from the changing consumer dynamics in the region, which has led to meaningful exposure in the consumer discretionary, staples and internet services sectors. We are particularly optimistic on the consumption story in China and India, where we expect growth to be underpinned by favourable structural trends such as rising middle-class and robust income growth.

The performance period shown here starts on the last day of the first indicated month and ends on the last day of the last indicated month.
