Quarterly fund commentary

Asian equity markets ended Q4 higher, largely due to positive contributions from Greater China, South Korea and selective ASEAN countries. Investor sentiment improved in the Greater China markets thanks to the government's more proactive fiscal spending and measures in support of growth. A low starting point for valuations and a strong recovery in Macau gaming stocks led a rebound in Hong Kong's equity market. South Korea's equity market delivered a positive return, led by the strong performance of its energy, IT and healthcare sectors. Selective ASEAN equity markets showed signs of recovery thanks to government policy measures in support of their economies. India lagged behind the broader market as the ruling political party suffered a setback in the latest state election, while corporate quarterly earnings results also disappointed. Our investment strategy remains focused on company fundamentals and bottom-up stock selection, favouring companies with sustainable industry leadership and competitive advantages, trading below what we consider to be fair value. As such, we have a bias toward China and India, where we see more opportunities than in ASEAN equity markets. We continue to favour consumer discretionary/staples over financials, materials, utilities and telecom companies.
