Quarterly fund commentary

In Q1 we were timely with our "risk-off" tactics initially before switching back to a "risk-on" mode following fresh rounds of monetary easing by the Bank of Japan and the European Central Bank. We took the opportunity during the market sell-off to buy Asian bonds at attractive prices. As the US dollar (US$) remains on a long-term appreciation trend against most Asian currencies, the fund will continue to be overweight US$ denominated bonds versus the reference index. We feel the recent rebound in commodities prices is not sustainable given global overcapacity and the economic slowdown in China. The fund will maintain its underweights in the commodities sector and commodities exporting countries. We are overweight the sectors and issuers whose credit risks will, we believe, improve thanks to the strong reflationary monetary and fiscal policies in China. China has increased its fiscal deficit target to 3 percent of GDP. We feel the People's Bank of China will further ease monetary policy on benign inflationary pressures. We actively capture new issue premiums by selectively subscribing to new issues in the primary market.

Risk Warnings

The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Debt instruments are exposed to credit risk which is the ability of the borrower to repay the interest and capital on the redemption date. Changes in interest rates will result in fluctuations in the value of the fund. As a large portion of the fund is invested in less developed countries, you should be prepared to accept significantly large fluctuations of the value of the fund. The risks described herein are the fund specific material risks. For more information please consult the current fund and share class specific Key Investor Information Document (KIID) and for a complete set of risks the current prospectus.

Where securities are mentioned in this document they do not necessarily represent a specific portfolio holding and do not constitute a recommendation to purchase, hold or sell. The ongoing charges figure is based on annualised expenses for the period ending 31/08/2015. This figure may vary from year to year. It excludes portfolio transaction costs except in the case of an entry or exit charge paid by the Fund when buying or selling shares/units in another fund. Please refer to the most up to date relevant fund and share class-specific Key Investor Information Document for more information on our funds. Further information on our products is available using the contact details shown. The yields shown are expressed as a % per annum of the current NAV of the fund. They are an estimate for the next 12 months, assuming that the fund's portfolio remains unchanged and there are no defaults or deferrals of coupon payments or capital repayments. Cash income is estimated coupons from bonds. The gross current yield is an indication of the expected cash income over the next 12 months. The estimated gross redemption yield is a longer-term picture indicating expected annual total return. This means that in addition to expected cash income, it includes the amortised annual value of unrealised capital gains or losses of bond holdings currently held by the fund, calculated with reference to their current market price and expected redemption value made upon maturity of the bonds. Neither of the yields is guaranteed. Nor do they reflect the fund charges or the entry charge of the fund. Investors may be subject to tax on distributions.
