Quarterly fund commentary

In the fourth quarter, emerging markets (EM) corporate bonds returned -1.32% (USD total return), as measured by the JP Morgan CEMBI Broad Diversified Index. Regionally only Africa posted a positive return while Asia and the Middle East were the worst performers. Returns were broadly negative across sectors although Metals & Mining and Transport both had positive returns. After several months of fairly consistent returns, the quarter saw a good bit of volatility in EM corporate bonds given the surprise election of Donald Trump along with a sharp move higher in US Treasury bond yields. However, after a bout of volatility in November, EM corporate bonds recovered somewhat in December to end the quarter on a positive note. As we move into 2017 we think the conditions exist for continued solid performance in EM corporate bonds if US Treasury bond yields hold relatively stable. However, in aggregate recent performance leaves the asset class adversely exposed to negative shocks. As such, we are approaching the market cautiously with a focus on mitigating downside risk.

Risk Warnings

The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Debt instruments are exposed to credit risk which is the ability of the borrower to repay the interest and capital on the redemption date. Changes in interest rates will result in fluctuations in the value of the fund. As a large portion of the fund is invested in less developed countries, you should be prepared to accept significantly large fluctuations of the value of the fund. The risks described herein are the fund specific material risks. For more information please consult the current fund and share class specific Key Investor Information Document (KIID) and for a complete set of risks the current prospectus.

As with all investments, there are associated risks. This document is by way of information only. Asset management services are provided by Invesco in accordance with appropriate local legislation and regulations. The fund is available only in jurisdictions where its promotion and sale is permitted. Forecasts are not reliable indicators of future performance. The forecasts and market outlook presented in this material reflect subjective judgments and assumptions of the investment manager or its delegate and unexpected events may occur. There can be no assurance that developments will transpire as forecasted in this presentation. Where securities are mentioned in this document they do not necessarily represent a specific portfolio holding and do not constitute a recommendation to purchase, hold or sell. The ongoing charges figure is based on annualised expenses for the period ending 31/08/2015. This figure may vary from year to year. It excludes portfolio transaction costs except in the case of an entry or exit charge paid by the Fund when buying or selling shares/units in another fund. The yields shown are expressed as a % per annum of the current NAV of the fund. They are an estimate for the next 12 months, assuming that the fund's portfolio remains unchanged and there are no defaults or deferrals of coupon payments or capital repayments. Cash income is estimated coupons from bonds. The gross current yield is an indication of the expected cash income over the next 12 months. The estimated gross redemption yield is a longer-term picture indicating expected annual total return. This means that in addition to expected cash income, it includes the amortised annual value of unrealised capital gains or losses of bond holdings currently held by the fund, calculated with reference to their current market price and expected redemption value made upon maturity of the bonds. Neither of the yields is guaranteed. Nor do they reflect the fund charges or the entry charge of the fund. Investors may be subject to tax on distributions.
