Quarterly fund commentary

Emerging equity markets edged past their counterparts in the developed world during the second quarter outperforming their peers in the developed world in the sixth month in a row. An improving economic landscape and some upbeat corporate earnings results provided a comforting backdrop. In June, despite US interest rates being hiked for the third time in six months, most emerging market currencies held steady. Equity performance was mixed at both a country and sector level. Emerging Asia was the best performing region, led by the tech-heavy equity market of Taiwan. China also delivered positive returns as MSCI's decision to add China's domestic A-shares to its indices boosted the performance of large companies. In EMEA (Europe, Middle East and Africa), strong performances from Greece and Turkey could not offset weakness from Qatar, Russia and South Africa. The fund concentrates on stocks with attractive risk-return profiles as identified by a systematic investment process which is based on four concepts: Earnings Expectations, Market Sentiment, Management & Quality and Value. During the quarter, the fund underperformed relative to its reference index. Coming into the third quarter, the fund's largest allocation is in industrials.

The performance period shown here starts on the last day of the first indicated month and ends on the last day of the last indicated month.
