Quarterly fund commentary

Emerging equity markets enjoyed a strong start to the year. The advance in stock prices was supported by an improving global growth outlook and positive earnings expectations in 2018. However, emerging markets were not immune to the spike in global market volatility in early February. Increased trade tensions and the first US interest rate hike of 2018 provided headwinds for emerging equity markets during March. The fund concentrates on stocks with attractive risk-return profiles as identified by a systematic investment process which is based on four concepts: Earnings Momentum, Price Momentum, Quality and Value. This approach can lead to active positions relative to the reference index; currency exposures are strategically hedged. Looking at the performance attribution for the first quarter, the portfolio underperformed its benchmark. Earnings Momentum and stock specific effects contributed positively. Implicit country weights detracted from return. Implicit sector weights also weighed on performance. Here, the main detractor was our underweight position relative to the index in information technology. Coming into the second quarter, the fund's largest allocations are in Korea, India, China and South Africa as well as, from a sector perspective, in industrials, materials, and consumer staples.

The performance period shown here starts on the last day of the first indicated month and ends on the last day of the last indicated month.

Risk Warnings

The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. The Fund may invest directly in Russia, which can involve significant risks to capital. The fund uses derivatives (complex instruments) for investment purposes, which may result in the Fund being significantly leveraged and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund. As a large portion of the fund is invested in less developed countries, you should be prepared to accept significantly large fluctuations of the value of the fund.

Important Information

¹The minimum investment amounts are: EUR 500 / USD 650 / GBP 400 / CHF 650 / SEK 4,500. Please contact us or refer to the most up to date Prospectus for details of minimum investment amounts in other currencies.
