Quarterly fund commentary

US monetary tightening and growing concerns over trade protectionism provided headwinds for emerging equity markets in the second quarter. Within the market, IT and energy sectors declined least while financials and industrials proved to be the key laggard sectors. Equity losses were less pronounced in Asia however, as China registered gains ahead of June's changes to MSCI indices, when more than 200 A-listed Chinese companies were added to the benchmark emerging markets index. Sentiment in emerging Europe was adversely impacted by political developments, with equity markets in Greece and Turkey registering steep losses. Despite Western sanctions, the Russian economy continued to show resilience, supported by real wage growth and higher energy prices. With the US Federal Reserve continuing to shrink its balance sheet, albeit at a gradual pace, while remaining in an interest rate hike cycle, the US dollar appreciated against all emerging market currencies in June with the Chinese renminbi registering its biggest monthly decline since 1994. The fund concentrates on stocks with attractive risk-return profiles as identified by a systematic investment process which is based on four concepts: Earnings Momentum, Price Momentum, Quality and Value.

Risk Warnings

The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. The fund may invest directly in Russia, which can involve significant risks to capital. The fund uses derivatives (complex instruments) for investment purposes, which may result in the fund being significantly leveraged and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund. As a large portion of the fund is invested in less developed countries, you should be prepared to accept significantly large fluctuations in the value of the fund.

Important Information

¹The minimum investment amounts are: EUR 500 / USD 650 / GBP 400 / CHF 650 / SEK 4,500. Please contact us or refer to the most up to date Prospectus for details of minimum investment amounts in other currencies.
