Quarterly fund commentary

European corporate bond markets delivered a positive return over the three months to 31 December 2017. This came despite an abrupt sell-off within corporate bond markets during early November, which particularly affected the high yield market. There didn't appear to be a single reason for this period of weakness, but contributory factors are thought to have been the very low level of yields and some company specific events. However, the market's ongoing demand for income and the still strong fundamental position of much of the corporate sector meant losses were quickly recovered. The fund holds a diversified portfolio of investment grade bonds with a smaller allocation to non-financial corporate high yield bonds. Our preferred sector remains financials with further notable holdings in non-financial hybrid bonds (bonds that have some equity like characteristics). Around 15% of the fund is held in US dollar denominated bonds. In the current market environment, these bonds can often provide an additional level of income over their European counterparts. The fund can offset the currency risk of these holdings through hedging.
