Quarterly fund commentary

Short dated Euro government and corporate bonds delivered positive returns during the period despite a late sell-off in government bonds towards the end of the quarter. A number of political and central bank announcements during the quarter raised market uncertainty and the level of volatility in the market. The European Central Bank president Mario Draghi announced it will wind down its €2tn quantitative easing programme from January, halving the amount of asset purchases from €60bn to €30bn. Economic data continues to suggest a recovery in the euro area in both growth and inflation. However, inflation remains subdued with further pressure coming from the euro currency strength. Positioning has been more defensive as monetary policy error has the potential to disrupt markets. Corporate bonds are a core component of the fund's strategy and we remain constructive on European investment grade corporate bonds with a preference for BBB rated bonds. In addition, the fund has an allocation to UK and US corporate bonds with currency exposure hedged to euro. Overall, the fund has a short duration bias (lower sensitivity to interest rate risk) relative to its benchmark, given the backdrop of stronger growth and mixed valuations. We remain active in euro peripheral sovereign bonds but see little value at this juncture.
