Quarterly fund commentary

Short dated Euro government outperformed Euro corporate bonds delivered during the period. A number of economic data releases and central bank announcements raised market uncertainty. The increased levels of volatility in the market were particularly felt in the corporate bond market due to the limited issuance in the government bonds. The message from the European Central Bank (ECB) was more "wait and see". The minutes from the ECB's January meeting stated that changes in communication about policy were generally seen as premature. However, there appeared to be change in tone towards the end of the quarter. Economic data continues to suggest a recovery in the euro area in both growth and inflation, although inflation remains subdued due to further pressure coming from the euro currency strength. Positioning has been more defensive as monetary policy error has the potential to disrupt markets. Corporate bonds are a core component of the fund's strategy and we remain constructive on European investment grade corporate bonds with a preference for BBB rated bonds. In addition, the fund has an allocation to UK and US corporate bonds with currency exposure hedged to euro. Overall, the fund has a short duration bias (lower sensitivity to interest rate risk) relative to its benchmark, given the backdrop of stronger growth and mixed valuations. We remain active in euro peripheral sovereign bonds but see little value at this juncture.

Risk Warnings

The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Debt instruments are exposed to credit risk which is the ability of the borrower to repay the interest and capital on the redemption date. Changes in interest rates will result in fluctuations in the value of the fund. The fund will invest in derivatives (complex instruments) which will result in the fund being leveraged and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund.

This information is available using the contact details of the issuer and is without charge. Further information on our products is available using the contact details shown. The yields shown are expressed as a % per annum of the current NAV of the fund. They are an estimate for the next 12 months, assuming that the fund's portfolio remains unchanged and there are no defaults or deferrals of coupon payments or capital repayments. Cash income is estimated coupons from bonds. The gross current yield is an indication of the expected cash income over the next 12 months. The estimated gross redemption yield is a longer-term picture indicating expected annual total return. This means that in addition to expected cash income, it includes the amortised annual value of unrealised capital gains or losses of bond holdings currently held by the fund, calculated with reference to their current market price and expected redemption value made upon maturity of the bonds. Neither of the yields is guaranteed. Nor do they reflect the fund charges or the entry charge of the fund. Investors may be subject to tax on distributions. Subscriptions of shares are only accepted on the basis of the most up to date legal offering documents. The legal offering documents (fund & share class specific Key Investor Information Document, prospectus, annual and semi-annual reports, articles and trustee deed) are available free of charge with your local Invesco representative or on our website www.invescoeuropa.com.
