Quarterly fund commentary

A technology-led rout dominated global equity markets in March rounding off the worst quarter for global equities in more than two years. While markets enjoyed a good start into the new year supported by strength in corporate earnings, a pick-up in economic growth and optimism over US tax cuts, global equity markets witnessed a sharp correction in the first half of February. The catalyst for the weakness was an increase in government yields in major markets, especially in the US. This increase in yields was driven by investor concerns over rising inflation as recent data on wage growth in US has been ahead of market expectations, and increased government budget deficits caused by the recent tax cut package. President Trump's decision to put tariffs on China heightened concerns that a trade war could hurt global economic growth. As a result, in the US share prices of sectors that have benefited the most from strength in the global economy saw the sharpest falls. Investments of the fund are determined by the outcome of multi-factor models. The fund underperformed its reference index over the first quarter. Stock selection was the main detractor from return with Value factors detracting most. This was only partly offset by a positive contribution from the momentum-related factors.

Risk Warnings

The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Debt instruments are exposed to credit risk which is the ability of the borrower to repay the interest and capital on the redemption date. The fund uses derivatives (complex instruments) for investment purposes, which may result in the Fund being significantly leveraged and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund. There is no guarantee that the long and short positions will succeed in achieving the fund's objective.
