Quarterly fund commentary

Greater China equities achieved positive returns in the fourth quarter. The Chinese equity market rose on continued earnings upgrades and ongoing inflows. Economic growth remained stable, with the official manufacturing PMI and trade data pointing towards healthy domestic production and robust external demand. Retail sales growth was also resilient. Amidst a favourable macro backdrop, we expect Chinese companies to deliver earnings growth of 17.9% in 2017, compared to -9.4% in 2016. Hong Kong equities benefited from the positive sentiment spill-over from Chinese equities over the quarter. Consumer-related sectors led the market higher thanks to the steady growth of retail sales on the back of a rebound in inbound tourists and stable local spending. Taiwanese equities also achieved a positive total return. The heavy-weighted IT sector experienced some headwinds since late November but industry leaders managed to regain favour from investors. However, some hardware manufacturers retreated upon weaker-than-expected iPhone X sales. In terms of investment strategy, we focus on companies with sustainable competitive advantages using a purely bottom-up investment approach. This stock selection preference has led to meaningful exposure in consumer-related sectors, such as consumer discretionary, consumer staples and internet services.
