Summary of fund objective

The investment objective of the Fund is to seek long term capital appreciation, measured in Yen, through investment primarily in the equity securities of companies domiciled in or exercising the predominant part of their economic activity in Japan and which are listed on any exchanges or over the counter markets. The Fund will invest in companies who make advantageous use not only of their capital but also of their intangible assets (for example, but not limited to, brand values, technical development or strong customer base). The Fund may also invest, on an ancillary basis, in debt securities convertible into common shares and other equity linked instruments. For the full objectives and investment policy please consult the current prospectus.

Quarterly fund commentary

The fund was reopened to investment by existing shareholders only at 12 noon (Irish time) on 17 February 2016. However, the fund may still be subject to capacity constraints in the future and the Directors may need to close it to new subscriptions. For more information and future updates please go to <http://invescomanagementcompany.lu>.

Japanese equity markets rallied over the final quarter of the year. This rally was driven by better-than-expected earnings results, solid global growth and Prime Minister Shinzo Abe's landslide victory in the snap election. This victory could lead to more business friendly structural reforms, in our view. Against this market backdrop, we added to existing positions in a leading pharmaceutical company, which specializes in pain relief, and a price comparison website operator of various goods and services. Conversely, an entire position in an automotive software developer was sold post strong share price performance. Looking ahead, we may see some volatility in markets in the near-term post their strong performance over last 12 months. Nonetheless, we believe the outlook for the equity market is positive as, in our view, Japan's corporate fundamentals and improving economy are not reflected in companies' market valuations. Furthermore, ongoing progress on corporate governance reform is largely overlooked. Against this backdrop, the fund's strategy is to remain focused on what we view as high quality companies with robust free cash flow and strong brands.
