Quarterly fund commentary

Pan-European equity markets ticked up in Q4. In 2017, European equities posted their best returns since 2013. Europe ended the year on strong footing as economic activity continued to expand at healthy levels in both the manufacturing and services sectors. The eurozone unemployment rate continued its decline in Q4, to the lowest in almost nine years, further underpinning domestic demand. Against such a backdrop, the European Central Bank (ECB) announced its first steps towards reducing stimulus measures after years of very accommodative policies, cutting monthly asset purchases by half starting from January 2018. However, with pricing pressures remaining subdued, the ECB extended its quantitative easing programme by another nine months to allow inflation to build up further. In our view, continued growth in domestic demand and falling unemployment in the Eurozone suggest mounting core inflationary pressures as we move through 2018. On the UK side, Q4 witnessed the Bank of England's first interest rate rise in a decade, in an attempt to constrain inflation from going further above the target level. The fund's strategy is based on bottom-up stock selection and driven by valuation, while taking into account the macroeconomic backdrop. At quarter-end, energy stood as the largest overweight sector relative to the MSCI Europe Index benchmark and consumer staples the biggest underweight sector.

The performance period shown here starts on the last day of the first indicated month and ends on the last day of the last indicated month.
