Quarterly fund commentary

In the fourth quarter, emerging market (EM) bonds returned -4.02% (USD total return), as measured by the JP Morgan EMBI Global Diversified Index. Returns were negative across regions with Latin America and Asia the worst performers. At the country level, Belize, Mozambique, and Ecuador were the top performers while Dominican Republic, Uruguay and Peru lagged. Negative returns for the period were driven in large part by the rise in US Treasury bond yields (bond yields and prices move inversely) following the outcome of the US presidential election. In November alone 10 year US Treasury yields moved higher by 56 basis points, the largest monthly increase since December 2009. Mutual fund flows for the asset class, which were positive through October, turned sharply negative with approximately US$ 15 billion of outflows in November and December combined. However, for the calendar year as a whole, the asset class took in nearly US$ 23 billion and the pace of outflows has slowed (fund flows sourced from EPR). Emerging markets bonds partially recovered losses in December supported by higher oil prices on the back of OPEC agreeing to production cuts that exceeded market expectations and less severe concerns around the US President elect's trade and economic policies.

Risk Warnings

The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. The fund may invest in distressed securities which carry a significant risk of capital loss. As a large portion of the fund is invested in less developed countries, you should be prepared to accept significantly large fluctuations of the value of the fund. The fund will hold a large amount of debt instruments which are of lower credit quality and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund. The risks described herein are the fund specific material risks. For more information please consult the current fund and share class specific Key Investor Information Document (KIID) and for a complete set of risks the current prospectus.

The forecasts and market outlook presented in this material reflect subjective judgments and assumptions of the investment manager or its delegate and unexpected events may occur. There can be no assurance that developments will transpire as forecasted in this presentation. Where securities are mentioned in this document they do not necessarily represent a specific portfolio holding and do not constitute a recommendation to purchase, hold or sell. The ongoing charges figure is based on annualised expenses for the period ending 30/11/2015. This figure may vary from year to year. It excludes portfolio transaction costs except in the case of an entry or exit charge paid by the Fund when buying or selling shares/units in another fund. Please refer to the most up to date relevant fund and share class-specific Key Investor Information Document for more information on our funds. Further information on our products is available using the contact details shown. The yields shown are expressed as a % per annum of the current NAV of the fund. They are an estimate for the next 12 months, assuming that the fund's portfolio remains unchanged and there are no defaults or deferrals of coupon payments or capital repayments. Cash income is estimated coupons from bonds. The gross current yield is an indication of the expected cash income over the next 12 months. The estimated gross redemption yield is a longer-term picture indicating expected annual total return. This means that in addition to expected cash income, it includes the amortised annual value of unrealised capital gains or losses of bond holdings currently held by the fund, calculated with reference to their current market price and expected redemption value made upon maturity of the bonds. Neither of the yields is guaranteed. Nor do they reflect the fund charges or the entry charge of the fund. Investors may be subject to tax on distributions.
