Quarterly fund commentary

Developed and emerging international equity markets again delivered positive returns in the fourth quarter, supported by firmer global economic growth, as well as stronger corporate fundamentals. After trailing international markets for the first three quarters of 2017, US equities outperformed international markets in the fourth quarter. In this environment, the fund underperformed its benchmark primarily due to stock selection in the media industry. Exposure to the software industry, an industry not held in the index, also dampened relative return. In contrast, stock selection in the household durables industry and a meaningful underweight to the automobiles industry contributed to relative return. We believe that we are in a period of disruption, where consumer habits are rapidly changing with the introduction of new technology. Technology is changing where we shop, how we shop, how we consume media, how we spend our time, how we travel, and as a result: how we spend our discretionary income. These changes are global, not regional, and technology is removing many of the barriers for global commerce while this is happening.

Risk Warnings

The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. As this fund is invested in a particular sector, you should be prepared to accept greater fluctuations of the value of the fund than for a fund with a broader investment mandate.

Important Information

¹The minimum investment amounts are: USD 1,500 / EUR 1,000 / GBP 1,000 / CHF 1,500 / SEK 10,000. Please contact us or refer to the most up to date Prospectus for details of minimum investment amounts in other currencies.
