Quarterly fund commentary

The Indian economy is changing after the demonetisation of some banknotes in November. Bank deposits swelled, and surplus liquidity resulted in lower bond yields. Having cut India's main interest rate by 25 basis points (bps) in October to 6.25%, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) kept interest rates unchanged in December. Following demonetisation, consumption slowed, resulting in lower growth and inflation estimates. Bond yields softened by about 30 bps while the rupee held steady despite the US Federal Reserve interest rate rise, demonetisation and repayment of foreign deposits. Stable macroeconomic data, the Government's resolve to lower the fiscal deficit and dovish monetary policy supported market sentiment. These factors and potential increases in tax collection and lower food prices are key economic positives in the medium term. The premium for investing in corporate bonds over government bonds is expected to decrease, and a reduction in interest rates is likely. The fund maintains a modified duration (a measure of sensitivity to interest rate changes) of around 6 years, with a large position in higher locally rated bonds to benefit from potential yield decline. In our view the interest rate and credit markets in India support prospects for steady income and stable inflation along with real GDP growth of around 7.0%.

Risk Warnings

The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. The fund will invest in derivatives (complex instruments) which will result in the fund being leveraged and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund. As a large portion of the fund is invested in less developed countries, you should be prepared to accept significantly large fluctuations of the value of the fund. The fund may hold a large amount of debt instruments which are of lower credit quality and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund. Investment in Indian securities may be restricted due to the unavailability of the relevant quota. The risks described herein are the fund specific material risks. For more information please consult the current fund and share class specific Key Investor Information Document (KIID) and for a complete set of risks the current prospectus.

The forecasts and market outlook presented in this material reflect subjective judgments and assumptions of the investment manager or its delegate and unexpected events may occur. There can be no assurance that developments will transpire as forecasted in this presentation. Where securities are mentioned in this document they do not necessarily represent a specific portfolio holding and do not constitute a recommendation to purchase, hold or sell. As the Share Class has been recently launched, the ongoing charges figure is estimated based on expected total of charges. This figure may vary from year to year. It excludes portfolio transaction costs except in the case of an entry or exit charge paid by the Fund when buying or selling shares/units in another fund. The yields shown are expressed as a % per annum of the current NAV of the fund. They are an estimate for the next 12 months, assuming that the fund's portfolio remains unchanged and there are no defaults or deferrals of coupon payments or capital repayments. Cash income is estimated coupons from bonds. The gross current yield is an indication of the expected cash income over the next 12 months. The estimated gross redemption yield is a longer-term picture indicating expected annual total return. This means that in addition to expected cash income, it includes the amortised annual value of unrealised capital gains or losses of bond holdings currently held by the fund, calculated with reference to their current market price and expected redemption value made upon maturity of the bonds. Neither of the yields is guaranteed. Nor do they reflect the fund charges or the entry charge of the fund. Investors may be subject to tax on distributions. Subscriptions of shares are only accepted on the basis of the most up to date legal offering documents. The legal offering documents (fund & share class specific Key Investor Information Document, prospectus, annual and semi-annual reports, articles and trustee deed) are available free of charge with your local Invesco representative or on our website www.invescoeurope.com.
