MANAGEMENT PHILOSOPHY

Dorval Manageurs Euro invests at least 75% of the portfolio in equities, with at least 60% of the total portfolio in the euro area. The fund is eligible for French PEA equity savings plans. Our portfolio managers draw on their in-depth knowledge of each company's management team and managerial profile to select stocks, while also focusing on securities that offer the strongest growth prospects within a defined risk framework. The portfolio management team can invest up to 25% of assets in money market instruments and debt securities, depending on its macro-economic analysis.

The fund seeks to outperform the MSCI EMU Net Total Return Euro over a 5-year investment timeframe. The portfolio is focused on around 40 securities from across the full range of market capitalisations, with an emphasis on stocks that are undervalued on the basis of the growth-at-a-reasonable-price (GARP) model.

FUND MANAGER'S COMMENT

Investor relief after the US-China trade agreement in December paled into insignificance against geopolitical issues in the Middle East in early January and the swift spread of the coronavirus in China. European indices ended January down on fears of a long-lasting economic slowdown in the world's second largest economy and biggest contributor to global growth. Against this backdrop, the MSCI EMU NR shed 1.73% in January, while Dorval Manageurs Euro saw a larger drop as a result of the 10.8% plunge from Total over the month as US light crude plummeted 15% in January, and the decline for cyclicals (Acerinox, Manitou, Wacker Neuson) and financials (Aegon, BNP).

We added to our Wirecard holding on expectations of robust 2019 results and the valuation catching up over the months ahead. We also reweighted STM after it reported very solid 2019 earnings and upgraded growth guidance for the next three years. We also wound down our TUI position, as there is now a strong likelihood of a fresh profit warning for the year after the delivery of Boeing 737 Max aircraft was delayed again. Lastly, we cut back our Royal Dutch Shell investment after it reported disappointing results for its downstream operations at the end of last year and downgraded 2020 cashflow guidance.

RISK AND REWARD PROFILE

Lower risk, typically lower rewards ← Higher risk, typically higher rewards →

The SRRI level of this UCITS is an indicator with a score from 1 to 7. It corresponds to an increasing level of risk and reward. It is the result of a regulatory methodology based on annualised volatility, calculated over 5 years. Checked on a periodic basis, the indicator can vary.

ESG Carbon Footprint

Source: ISS at 31/12/2019

The carbon footprint measures the quantity of greenhouse gas emissions in terms of CO₂ (CO₂ eq.) resulting from the business operations of investments in our portfolio.

Emissions per amount invested: sum total of absolute emissions held by the portfolio compared to amounts invested in companies (tCO₂ eq/Millions of euros invested)

NET PERFORMANCE SINCE INCEPTION

Active share

Active share measures the difference in breakdown of an equity portfolio as compared to its benchmark.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Performance calculation takes into account net dividend re-invested for the fund and net dividend re-invested for the reference indicator.

Fund risks

Equity investments may undergo major share price fluctuations. The fund is exposed to certain specific risks, i.e. risk of capital loss, equity risk, exchange rate risk, interest rate risk, credit risk. Capital invested is not guaranteed. You may recover less than you invested. Please refer to the fund's full prospectus for a full description of risks.

DEFINITIONS

Monthly report as at 31 January 2020

Active share: Active share measures the difference in breakdown of an equity portfolio as compared to its benchmark.

Alpha: Coefficient used to measure a fund's additional positive or negative performance as compared to levels its market risk – as measured by its reference indicator – would justify.

Beta: Measure of a fund's sensitivity to market movements (represented by its reference indicator). A beta higher than 1 indicates that the fund amplifies the trends of its reference market on the upside as well as on the downside. Conversely, a beta lower than 1 means that the fund tends to react less to movements in its reference market. We calculate:

- Fund-reference indicator covariance (CovarianceFondsIndice): covariance for weekly fund and reference indicator performances

- Reference indicator variance (VarianceIndice): variance in the reference indicator's weekly performances

- Fund average (MoyenneFonds), Reference indicator average (MoyenneIndice): average of weekly performances for fund and reference indicator

$$\text{Beta} = \text{Fund-reference indicator covariance (CovarianceFondsIndice)} / \text{Reference indicator variance (VarianceIndice)}$$

Dividend yield: Returns are the yield on shares, equating to the dividends paid by companies that the fund invests in, divided by these companies' share price.

DNR: Net dividends reinvested

EV/EBIT: Enterprise value divided by operating profit. This multiple is useful in assessing the speed at which an investor will recover the initial investment in a company after a full takeover.

Gain frequency: Ratio of the number of positive observations to the total number of observations since fund inception.

Growth in earnings per share: Trends in profits for companies in the fund's holdings, weighted for the proportion of these shares held in the fund.

Information ratio: The information ratio measures the fund's relative performance adjusted for each point of volatility compared to its reference indicator. We calculate:

- Average difference (MoyenneDiff): The average of the performance differences between the fund and the reference indicator

- Average standard deviation (MoyenneStdDev): The standard deviation of performance differences between the fund and the reference indicator

$$\text{Information ratio (RatioInfo)} = \text{Average difference (MoyenneDiff)} / \text{Average standard deviation (StdDevDiff)}$$

Maximum performance: Maximum gain historically recorded by the fund.

Maximum drawdown: Maximum loss historically recorded by the fund.

P/E multiple: The price/earnings multiple is calculated by dividing the share price by its net earnings per share. The P/E is used to value a share as compared to share prices for sector peers: the lower the P/E, the cheaper the share price is deemed to be.

Recovery period: Time expressed in number of days the fund takes to exceed the highest net asset value over the indicated period.

Risks: Risk data are calculated over a given timeframe based on weekly performances.

Sharpe ratio: Indicator of a fund's outperformance relative to a risk-free rate, divided by the risk taken (fund volatility). The Sharpe ratio measures the marginal performance per unit of risk. The higher the ratio, the higher the fund's risk-adjusted yield. We calculate:

- Annualised fund performance (PerfFondsAnnualise): the fund's annualised performance over the investment period

- Risk-free rate (TauxSansRisque): the annualised EONIA performance over the investment period

- Fund standard deviation (FondsStdDev): The fund's performance standard deviation

$$\text{Information ratio (RatioInfo)} = (\text{Annualised fund performance (PerfFondsAnnualise)} - \text{Risk-free rate (TauxSansRisque)}) / (\text{Fund standard deviation (FondsStdDev)} * \text{Sqrt (52)})$$

Tracking error: Tracking error is the standard deviation for the series of differences between portfolio returns and benchmark returns. High tracking error implies a major difference between the fund and the benchmark, whether on the upside or downside.

Volatility: Amplitude in the variation of a financial instrument over a given time period. High volatility means that the share price varies significantly and therefore that the risk associated with the share is high.

MANAGERS GLOSSARY

The fund management team ranks the company managers in 4 broad categories:

Homegrown Managers: these executives started their career in the company they manage today. In most cases, they have more than 10 years' experience in the company in a management position in an international context;

Rescuers: they were given authority during a crisis. These managers are the heads of a pool of companies in turnaround situations;

Empire Builders: genuine niche developers, they have the ability to identify one or more long-term growth opportunities;

Family Heirs: they have a family link with the Builder and take on the operational management of the company. They often start out with a poor image which is not always justified. They are often supported in their ventures by an experienced manager.

MORNINGSTAR METHODOLOGY

The information contained herein: (1) is proprietary to Morningstar and/or its content providers; (2) may not be copied or distributed; (3) is not warranted to be accurate, complete or timely. Neither Morningstar nor its content providers are responsible for any damages or losses arising from any use of this information. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. References to rankings, awards and/or ratings are not an indicator of future performance by the fund or the fund manager. The Morningstar rating applies to funds with a history of at least three years. It takes into account subscription fees, the risk-free return and the fund's volatility in order to calculate the MRAR (Morningstar Risk Adjust Return) ratio for each fund. The funds are then ranked by decreasing order of MRAR: the first 10% receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% 4 stars, the next 35% 3 stars, the next 22.5% 2 stars, and the last 10% receive 1 star. The funds are ranked within 180 European categories.
